The Presidents Corner

As we begin another year, Special Thanks are due many who made 1974 a success for the VCOI. Tony Lucas assumed the duties of President for the 2nd half of the year, and did a fine job. Linda Busch deserves special thanks for not only serving as our Secretary, but for performing the thankless job of editing our Monthly Bulletin. Both of these members have contributed a great deal to this club and are part of our great assets.

The 1975 election was a very close one and really wasn't decided, I'M told until the very end of counting the ballots. New faces on the Board are Pete Ingrassia - Vice President, Ann Lucas - Secretary, and Board members Dorothy Rosenberg and John Ewers. Old timers continuing in office are Iris Pechota - Treasurer, Board Members Phil Rosenberg, John Pecora, Bev Pecora, Maryann Ingrassia and yours truly, at the helm. Our Board is now made up of 5 men and 5 women giving us very equal representation in all ranks. We're indeed fortunate to continuously attract new people into positions of responsibility within this club. We're hopeful of continuing in this manner.

Don't forget the FUN TRIAL on Sunday, Feb. 23rd. Many of our more experienced dog handlers will be present to work with people new to the VIZSLA. Hope to see you then.

Ken Crago

Thank You NIDA SZAFFRAN for providing us with delicious home-made refreshments at our January meeting! Volunteering for February was Dorothy Rosenberg.

Secretary's Report,

by L. Busch

The 1975 Annual Meeting of the VCOI took place Jan. 15th, at the home of the Pecoras. The Meeting was called to order at 8:45 P.M. with 19 members present. The secretary's report was read; accepted. The treasurer's report was read; accepted. Meanwhile the committee to count the ballots for the 1975 election were busy. No Board meeting last month.

Committee Reports:

Christmas Party - The expenses incurred were not considered a loss.

Bulletin - Maryann Ingraffia requested articles from more members. Ad prices were to be revised. Breed Improvement articles were considered too lengthy.

Fun Trial - Tony Lucas reported Feb. 23rd at Des Plaines was set. No Judges.

Spring Trial - Tony Lucas; Scheduled for 3/29th & 30th at Des Plaines. The Judges will be Lee Martin & Bob Strzepeck on Course #1, and Doug Birchfield and Ernie Marachek on course #2.

Show Committee - none given

John Pecora reported that he ordered films; hasn't heard yet. Ken Crago reported horseback handling is O.K. at Bong again. Tony Lucas reported that the National Trial is May 2, 3 & 4. There will be a Championship stake, NOT an AKC championship, but AKC did approve this stake and it is a beginning towards an AKC Championship stake. The event will be in two Series. The first on Friday and call-backs on Saturday. The first will be no bird field, and the second will be bird field with shoot to kill. Along with the second series of the Championship stake on Saturday, they will run the Derby. Sunday will be the Amateur Gun Dog and Puppy. Ballot counters returned to the meeting and announced the new officers. Ken Crago, President later adjourned the meeting.

Etc.

"BREED IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE".....

Ken Crago has recently submitted articles to the Bulletin; he feels most are too lengthy for printing. If edited or summarized, we feel we may lose thought or true content of the author's message. Therefore many of these articles will be at Club Meetings for our membership to read. Look to the Bulletin for more condensed articles on Hip Dysplasia from time to time.

NEW ALL BREED KENNEL CLUB starts...

by D.Stoeke

SILVER SPRINGS KENNEL CLUB, Inc.

Anyone who may be interested in joining an all Breed Kennel Club is invited to join the Silver Springs K.C., Inc.

This Club's first meeting was in September 1974. By January 1975, our elections were held, the club was incorporated, we've had a judge speak to us and things have got off the ground at surprising speed. As of January 1, 1975, the membership is 56 adults, 7 Jr. members. The meetings are held every third Friday at the Bank of Yorkville, at Routes 34 & 47 in Yorkville, Ill. Membership is $10.00 per year per person, $1.50 for Jr. Membership. In the workings now is getting our committees together for conformation and obedience classes to be held in this area. Being an all breed club, the knowledge to be gained from some of our more experienced members, is invaluable. Some of the discussions are quite enlightening. Please come out some Friday evening at 8:00 PM. and you'll enjoy the discussions and refreshments are no-charge due to the generosity of our members.

CHRISTMAS PARTY PHOTOS

A very professional job was done in taking colored photos at the Christmas Party.

There are some really great "action shots" as well as a picture of each of the couples who attended. By the looks of all of the smiling faces in the photos, it sure showed everyone was having a good time.

You are welcome to take any of the photos you wish; pick them up at the next meeting.

1. Finished Gun Dog - Steady to Wing & Shot - over 2 years old
2. Hunting Dog - over 2 years old
3. Puppy -(5 to 12 months old)- Potential Trial or Hunting
4. Derby -(12-24 months old) - Potential Trial or Hunting

Entrants will Judge their own dogs - everyone will be given a self explanatory multiple choice judging sheet. The committee will pick the winners from the sheets. There will be a training seminar. Spectators Welcome!! Free coffee - bring your own lunch -

Committees: Tony Lucas, Rich Staken, Pat Biernat, Al Cajka.

In having this fun trial-seminar, the committee hopes to draw both it's new members (perhaps with his first Vizsla) and old timers (many with seasoned trial and/or hunting dogs) together for a day of training. The field house will provide a good place to warm up, have a hot cup of coffee with your lunch, and also provide a place to meet and talk to club members. If you have any questions - ASK! Someone will be glad to help. It pays to watch one with experience - Be there to watch the first stake -

We hope this may be the start of a series of such seminars. Don't miss it

The following article written by Phil Rosenberg appeared in The Bulletin some while back. We find it informative and IN TIME with our upcoming fun trial-seminar:

"STARTING YOUR PUP"

First try getting your pup "birdy" by using a pheasant wing and a fishing pole. Your pup is five to six weeks of age at this time. This can be done inside the home, in the basement or out in the yard, weather permitting. Try working the wing in front of the pup, trying not to let him catch it. He or she should show a tendency to point once, they see they can't catch the wing. I like to stop this routine as soon as I get a staunch point out of my pups. Too much wing and string and it tends to become a game with the young dog.

Next step is getting your pup(s) out into the yard with a pigeon that has its flight feathers pulled so it can hop and walk around but can't fly. The pup(s) will have a gay old time chasing a live bird around. If you have more than one young dog, let them both chase the bird. It seems pups are bolder as a group, whereas, a lone pup might get frightened by itself. Letting the pups do this two or three times is sufficient enough to get their bird sense stimulated. The pup is six to eight weeks old at this time.

Next, weather permitting, get your pup out in the field on short grass if possible. I find having one or two older dogs along has a tendency to make your pup forget about you and start to explore the world on his own. I use my older dogs as an aid to start my pups into getting that independent attitude.

Once you see the pup(s) starting to enjoy the field and he or she strikes out on their own from time to time, I think at this point you can start your training with an older dog. Your pup is now 12 to 13 weeks old. I stop running my young dogs together at 12 weeks of age and start my real training. At this point the pup is getting aggressive and starting to hunt. His playing days in the field are over. Even though puppies are still puppies, you have to start a training routine somewhere. This is as good a time as any I find personally. I run my young dogs with a different older dog each time I put them down; at first with dogs which they know, and then with strange dogs, but always using older dogs that are all business in the field. If you plan on strictly hunting your dog, then run him with the best hunting dog you can find. You will see your pup pick up the traits, good and bad, of the older dog you're running him with, so be careful and choose your running partners with thought. Your dog at 12 to 13 weeks should be run for 10 to 15 minutes, again, weather permitting. If there is a little snow or if it might be raining somewhat, don't be afraid to run your pup. You might as well get his feet wet as soon as possible.

Birds: In the spring and early summer you might get lucky and find some young pheasants to run your young pup on. If not, you will have to use pigeons as a means of getting your young dog started. The planting of birds, by this I mean the way you go about it, is very important. I start by putting a couple birds down in a ten or twenty acre area and just let the pup hunt them out in his own time. Do not lead your pup directly to the birds. He or she is the hunter. Your job is just to keep him in the general area. Try and get your pup on birds at least once a week, in the beginning. As your pup gets older, say four to five months, we are ready to start planting the birds farther out (off horseback if you have a horse to use). Start right at the cast off point, have the person who is planting the bird for you show it to your pup before the cast-off. You will be standing with your pup on lead and then the planter walks, or rides, out about 100 yards and plants the bird. On his return, cast the pup off. Your dog has a general idea where the bird was planted, so he will bolt out as fast as he can run and hunt the trail of the planter or horse. On finding the bird, your pup will probably jump in the first few times trying to catch the bird, so plant the bird very loose so it will pop out on its own. With a pigeon you will find if you gently dizzy the bird up and drop it at some likely object or some heavy cover, you will get the results you're looking for. Another thing I must add, wear an old pair of gloves so as to make the bird smell as natural as possible. Back to your pup--as the bird pops out and your dog starts his chase, you may fire a small caliber blank pistol (22 blank or crimp if you have it), but only fire if he is in hot pursuit of the bird and is not closer to you than 30 to 40 yards. Later as the pup gets used to the 22 blank you will switch to the 32 blank, but always remember he is chasing when you fire. You will kill two birds with one stone this way:

1. Your pup should become very birdy
2. He will get used to the gun.

If you are lucky enough to have plenty of native birds in your area, working with pigeons is not necessary. If not, you might try this method, again be careful when introducing the gun to the young dog. A few weekends of this type of training should be all your pup needs to get his interest up. Don't over-do planting birds for your young dog. As soon as possible run him on wild birds, for you will find no substitute for the real thing.

On the subject of running a dog for any length of time, I find that 15 to 20 minutes for the six month old dog, and a gradual rise of up to 30 minutes until he is about one year old is more than sufficient for my own dogs. Overdoing a thing and running your young puppy for one or two hours will just cause him to pace himself and he may even lose interest in field work. If you see your pup is not running with fire he showed you last week, don't push him or get on him. Remember, you have your good days and bad days also.

Another thing you might keep in mind, especially if you are thinking of trialing your pup, run him on different grounds as much as possible. He will enjoy it more because it's new and interesting, and there is nothing like new territory to explore for a young puppy. You will find it will make him a more independent dog.

At this point, if you plan on seriously field trialing your pup, the next thing to cover would be "pattern on course", introducing the horse, and field trial handling in general (overhandling, hacking, and just plain yelling). Yelling, I consider the biggest mistake a new handler can make in training at anytime. These points will be covered later.

I might add that these are just some tips and things that have worked for me during the years I have trained dogs. I have had some good results from them, and I hope you will too.

THE AMERICAN KENNEL CLUB

What AKC is. The American Kennel Club, founded on Sept. 17, 1884 is a non-profit organization devoted to the advancement of purebred dogs. Its purpose is to adopt and enforce rules and regulations governing dog shows, obedience trials, and field trials, and to foster and encourage interest in, and the health and welfare of purebred dogs.

(The above paragraph was taken from a pamphlet published by AKC entitled "ARE YOU A RESPONSIBLE DOG OWNER?" It was submitted to The Bulletin by Jim Busch. Next month we plan to print it in its entirety.

(Diane reports she was unable to attend symposium at Champaign-Urbana; she was home with Bitch-Tara who had a litter of 15 pups-14 surviving. Wonder why she stayed home! She has the materials which she later sent for, and are available if someone would like to see them.) She reports she attended "A Day with AEC"; highly recommends you go if this is offered in our area again. There were 2500 people. The program was very well given, movies were good, and they were the first audience to see the new movie on GAIT. Leonard Brunby spoke and his speech was very encouraging. He said that AKC is going to have programs for groups of judges. They are well aware of many injustices in the ring and wish the dog to be judged and not the handler. They are thinking of having classes with novice handlers only. He also stated that there is at least one person in every breed club that is knowledgeable enough to attend shows and oversee the judging that goes on. If this person feels that there have been any inequities in judging, they would like to have letters about this with precisely what was wrong with judging. Letters should naturally be non-emotional. They are considering not publishing the names of B.I.S. judges or group judges. No one would know until they got to the show. They are also thinking of not having a B.I.S. dog at all. They are considering a lot of ideas. He gave an example of a judge who was supposedly drinking, complaints were made by exhibitors there at the show. They brought this judge up before the board, and then everyone had a lapse of memory. They have difficulty sorting out the bona fide complaints; but they consider every written letter. The movies available by AKC should be given consideration as far as showing them at future meetings.)

E.K. Stoeke placed First in Novice Jr. Class for Junior Showmanship. Entries in the class were 18. There were so many Jr. Handlers at this match that the boys & girls were judged separately. These Jr. handlers are the same young people I've been seeing at the shows for the past year or so. All I can say is we adults had best BEWARE! Most of them can out-handle almost any novice adult exhibitor in the show ring today. The competition is so stiff, and some of the questions asked these kids in the ring would really stump most of us. If ever you get the chance at a show to watch them, please do; they are a delight. Just an after-thought, my son was in the ring over an hour and worked every minute of that hour along with everyone else.
