EX-PRESIDENTS CORNER.....

Dorothy & I Want to Wish Every Vizsla Club Member a Merry Christmas & Happy New Year. It's been hard to get into the Holiday mood with the temperature a steady 70° to 80°, but will adjust- HAR HAR!!

Entered the pups in their first Texas Field trials, they both seemed to have gotten used to the climate and different type of grounds and cover. So far, in two trials - Tanker, two firsts, and Frost, one second placement.

They don't have a Vizsla Club in this neck of the woods, so Dorothy & I joined the only club within two hundred miles of Houston- The Gulf Coast GSF. As you might guess, the trials are few and far between with about six clubs in the area, with the area being 500 miles, having trials. The entries are small with the Open Gun being the only chance for a major. But so far, the two trials we attended, the stakes were all two pointers or less.

WELL, HAPPY HOLIDAYS,

Phil & Dorothy

PS: Tell Betty Solberg that the stars are big & bright deep in the heart of Texas.

After the VCOI Juggernaut trip to the Nationals in Calif. don't anyone say "crash" to Linda, Ann or Mike or "time" to Jim Busch. VCOI members there were Pete, Tony & Maryann Ingrassia Ken Crago, Jim & Linda Busch, Tony & Ann Lucas and Mike Florian. To write about the trip would take pages. To say it was eventful would be an understatement. The trip there left us with a wrecked truck in Denver. We were given a 25ft. Motor home for the remainder of the trip and we enjoyed. Coming back we lost a $35 table, lost a dog for 3 hrs., left money in Tahoe (Mike won) and spent hrs. driving through fog in Neb. & Ia. The country we saw was spectacular on the way to and in Calif. We met some of the really nice people who, as in every club, are the backbone of the clubs.

At the trial the first brace, Rip & Willie, was in the fog. That did hurt. The highlight of the trip was "Barney's" win, 1st pl. in the Derby.

FEBRUARY 5, 1978,

FEBRUARY 19, 1978

MARCH 11-12, 1978

SET THEM ASIDE FOR VIZSLA ACTIVITIES.

Feb. 5th is the 2nd Annual running of the Vizsla Club of Illinois Hairy-Chested Men's Mid-Winter All-Breed Amateur Invitational. Again, it will be held at The Busch's Farm (?). Twenty of the area's top amateur Gun Dogs will compete in a gun dog stake for fame and fortune. Entry is by invitation only, but it's well worth coming out to watch because these dogs are the cream of the crop. Four Breeds of dogs, German Shorthaired Pointers, German Wire-haired Pointers, Vizslas & Weimariners including 15 Field Champions (the other 5 all have Field Champion Points) are invited. Last year almost all of the original invitees accepted and ran. In case some of the original invitiees can not make it, alternates will be invited to bring the entry up to twenty. A lot of the action will be visible without mounting a horse, as a road runs through and along-side a good portion of the course. The drawing will be at 7:30 A.M. that morning and will continue through the day with one brace being drawn at a time.

Last year, Ken Crago's RIPPI was first and Jack Alger's Duffey was second-these two men will be the judges for this years event. Come early & bring the family; plan on staying late. Food and drinks are being provided by the Vizsla Club ladies.

Feb. 19th is the date of our early spring Fun Trial & Puppy Training Seminar. There will be events for all ages of Vizslas and all stages of Training. Field Trial Dogs and Non-Field trial Dogs will again be separated in the competition.

This event will be held at the Des Plaines Wildlife Area, South of Joliet, Illinois. Again come early, with the entire family and stay late. It will be a full day of Vizsla Club of Illinois activities. This time you have to bring your own chow & drinks; but there is a building for shelter in case the weather is nippy. A flyer describing the days events will be sent out shortly.

Last, but not least -
March 11 & 12, VCOI FIELD TRIAL

Linda will have an article elsewhere in the Bulletin giving you full details so be sure and find it and read it. Your help will be needed to make the Trial and Fun Trial run Smoothly.

The following article written by Phil Rosenberg appeared in The Bulletin some while back. We find it informative and IN TIME with our upcoming fun trial-seminar:

"STARTING YOUR PUP"

First try getting your pup "birdy" by using a pheasant wing and a fishing pole. Your pup is five to six weeks of age at this time. This can be done inside the home, in the basement or out in the yard, weather permitting. Try working the wing in front of the pup, trying not to let him catch it. He or she should show a tendency to point once, they see they can't catch the wing. I like to stop this routine as soon as I get a staunch point out of my pups. Too much wing and string and it tends to become a game with the young dog.

Next step is getting your pup(s) out into the yard with a pigeon that has its flight feathers pulled so it can hop and walk around but can't fly. The pup(s) will have a gay old time chasing a live bird around. If you have more than one young dog, let them both chase the bird. It seems pups are bolder as a group, whereas, a lone pup might get frightened by itself. Letting the pups do this two or three times is sufficient enough to get their bird sense stimulated. The pup is six to eight weeks old at this time.

Next, weather permitting, get your pup out in the field on short grass if possible. I find having one or two older dogs along has a tendency to make your pup forget about you and start to explore the world on his own. I use my older dogs as an aid to start my pups into getting that independent attitude.

Once you see the pup(s) starting to enjoy the field and he or she strikes out on their own from time to time, I think at this point you can start your training with an older dog. Your pup is now 12 to 13 weeks old. I stop running my young dogs together at 12 weeks of age and start my real training. At this point the pup is getting aggressive and starting to hunt. His playing days in the field are over. Even though puppies are still puppies, you have to start a training routine somewhere. This is as good a time as any I find personally.

I run my young dogs with a different older dog each time I put them down; at first with dogs which they know, and then with strange dogs, but always using older dogs that are all business in the field.

If you plan on strictly hunting your dog, then run him with the best hunting dog you can find. You will see your pup pick up the traits, good and bad, of the older dog you're running him with, so be careful and choose your running partners with thought. Your dog at 12 to 13 weeks should be run for 10 to 15 minutes, again, weather permitting. If there is a little snow or if it might be raining somewhat, don't be afraid to run your pup. You might as well get his feet wet as soon as possible.

Birds: In the spring and early summer you might get lucky and find some young pheasants to run your young pup on. If not, you will have to use pigeons as a means of getting your young dog started. The planting of birds, by this I mean the way you go about it, is very important. I start by putting a couple birds down in a ten or twenty acre area and just let the pup hunt them out in his own time. Do not lead your pup directly to the birds. He or she is the hunter. Your job is just to keep him in the general area. Try and get your pup on birds at least once a week, in the beginning. As your pup gets older, say four to five months, we are ready to start planting the birds farther out (off horseback if you have a horse to use). Start right at the cast off point, have the person who is planting the bird for you show it to your pup before the cast-off. You will be standing with your pup on lead and then the planter walks, or rides, out about 100 yards and plants the bird. On his return, cast the pup off. Your dog has a general idea where the bird was planted, so he will bolt out as fast as he can run and hunt the trail of the planter or horse. On finding the bird, your pup will probably jump in the first few times trying to catch the bird, so plant the bird very loose so it will pop out on its own. With a pigeon you will find if you gently dizzy the bird up and drop it at some likely object or some heavy cover, you will get the results you're looking for. Another thing I must add, wear an old pair of gloves so as to make the bird smell as natural as possible. Back to your pup--as the bird pops out and your dog starts his chase, you may fire a small caliber blank pistol (22 blank or crimp if you have it), but only fire if he is in hot pursuit of the bird and is not closer to you than 30 to 40 yards. Later as the pup gets used to the 22 blank you will switch to the 32 blank, but always remember he is chasing when you fire. You will kill two birds with one stone this way:

1. Your pup should become very birdy

2. He will get used to the gun.

If you are lucky enough to have plenty of native birds in your area, working with pigeons is not necessary. If not, you might try this method, again be careful when introducing the gun to the young dog. A few weekends of this type of training should be all your pup needs to get his interest up. Don't over-do planting birds for your young dog. As soon as possible run him on wild birds, for you will find no substitute for the real thing.

On the subject of running a dog for any length of time, I find that 15 to 20 minutes for the six month old dog, and a gradual rise of up to 30 minutes until he is about one year old is more than sufficient for my own dogs. Overdoing a thing and running your young puppy for one or two hours will just cause him to pace himself and he may even lose interest in field work. If you see your pup is not running with fire he showed you last week, don't push him or get on him. Remember, you have your good days and bad days also.

Another thing you might keep in mind, especially if you are thinking of trialing your pup, run him on different grounds as much as possible. He will enjoy it more because it's new and interesting, and there is nothing like new territory to explore for a young puppy. You will find it will make him a more independent dog.

At this point, if you plan on seriously field trialing your pup, the next thing to cover would be "pattern on course", introducing the horse, and field trial handling in general (overhandling, hacking, and just plain yelling). Yelling, I consider the biggest mistake a new handler can make in training at anytime. These points will be covered later.

I might add that these are just some tips and things that have worked for me during the years I have trained dogs. I have had some good results from them, and I hope you will too.

HAPPY NEW YEAR-- AFTER THE PARTY

The Christmas party, held Dec. 10, 1977 at Sharko's Rest., started with people arriving at 7:00 PM for cocktails. Upon entering, everyone tried their luck on some simple games and won prizes. A hearty dinner was served as soon as everyone expected, had arrived, which was shortly after 8:00 PM. After dinner, there was a special presentation and plaque given The Simons installing their Ftc & AFTC. "JODI" of Czuki Barat into the V.C.O.I. Hall of Fame, adding a very nice highlight to the evening. Many more prizes were won on the treasure hunt games and Santa Claus made his usual jolly appearance. Free Bing was played for about three hrs., and the winners walked away with armloads of really nice prizes. The band was very good and many people enjoyed hours of dancing well after 1:00 A.M. - A GOOD TIME WAS HAD BY ALL.
